

Instructions for Form IT-230

Separate Tax on Lump-Sum Distributions

IT-230-I

General information

If you were a New York State resident or part-year resident individual, resident estate, or resident or part-year resident trust and you used federal Form 4972, Tax on Lump-Sum Distributions, to figure your federal tax on lump-sum distributions, you must use New York State Form IT-230 to figure your New York State separate tax on lump-sum distributions. You must make the same elections on Form IT-230 as you made on federal Form 4972. To make those elections, fill in the same parts of Form IT-230 that you filled in on federal Form 4972. Follow the instructions for Part II and Part III.

If you were a New York State nonresident or part-year resident individual, nonresident estate or trust, or part-year resident trust and you received (or accrued) a lump-sum distribution from a qualified retirement plan in your period of nonresidence, the income is not taxable to New York State and therefore, not subject to the New York State separate tax on lump-sum distributions. However, if you filed federal Form 4972 and used Part II because you chose the 20% capital gain election, you must complete Part II, line 1 of Form IT-230 and the Nonresident and part-year resident income percentage schedule on page 3 of these instructions to figure the income percentage to enter on Worksheet C, line 6 on page 2 of these instructions and on Form IT-203 or IT-205-A. Follow the line instructions for Part II on page 2.

If you were a city of New York resident or a part-year city of New York resident, figure your New York City separate tax on Form IT-230. New York City nonresidents are not subject to the city separate tax on lump-sum distributions.

If you were a city of Yonkers resident or part-year resident, figure your city of Yonkers resident income tax surcharge on Form IT-201 or Form IT-203, based on your New York State separate tax on lump-sum distributions. You do not have to figure a separate tax on Form IT-230.

If you and your spouse were New York State residents or part-year residents and are filing a joint return, and you each received a lump-sum distribution, complete and file a separate Form IT-230 for each spouse and combine the tax shown on each form. Transfer the combined tax from Forms IT-230, Part II and/or Part III, to the applicable worksheet and line as indicated on Form IT-230.

If you are filing for a New York State resident or part-year resident trust that shared the distribution only with other trusts, figure the tax on the entire distribution first. The trusts then share the tax in the same proportion that they shared the distribution.

Multiple recipients of lump-sum distribution – If you shared a lump-sum distribution from a qualified retirement plan when not all recipients were trusts, fill in the same parts of Form IT-230 that you filled in on federal Form 4972. If you used Part III of Form IT-230, figure your tax using the worksheet on the back of Form IT-230.

Officer, employee, or beneficiary of an officer or employee of New York State, the United States, or political subdivisions thereof — The following pension income received by a resident or part-year resident is not subject to the separate tax on lump-sum distributions but must be reported on Form IT-230 as described below.

- Any pension income you received from New York State and local governments in the state which includes:
 - State and City University of New York and New York State Education Department employees who belong to the Optional Retirement Program (see Caution below);
 - Manhattan and Bronx Surface Transit Operating Authority (MABSTOA); and
 - Long Island Railroad Company
- Any pension income you received from the United States, its territories or possessions, political subdivisions of these territories or possessions, the District of Columbia, or any agency or instrumentality of any of the above (including the military).

Caution – In the case of the Optional Retirement Program, only that portion of the lump-sum pension payment or return of contributions that is attributable to your employment with the State or City University of New York or New York State Education Department is exempt from the separate tax on lump-sum distributions.

The portion of the lump-sum pension payment or return of contributions that was attributable to your employment by a non-New York public employer, such as a private university, and any portion attributable to contributions you made to a supplemental annuity plan that was funded through a salary reduction program is subject to the separate tax on lump-sum distributions.

To satisfy the filing requirement, fill in Form IT-230, Part I, and only line 1 of Part II or line 3 of Part III, whichever is applicable. These amounts would be the same as those entered on federal Form 4972. Write in Part I, below the Yes check box, From New York State or the United States or political subdivision.

If, in addition to a lump-sum distribution received from New York State, or the United States, or their political subdivisions, you are reporting a lump-sum distribution from another source on federal Form 4972, include on Form IT-230 only the portion received from the other source.

Attach to Form IT-230 a statement showing the source and amount of each lump-sum distribution you reported on federal Form 4972.

Filling in lines 2 and 24

Rectangular boxes have been printed on lines 2 and 24 to guide you in making handwritten entries, so we can use the latest scanning and image processing equipment.

- Print (using a blue or black ballpoint pen; no pencils, please) or type money amounts in the boxes provided.

— Carefully enter your money amounts in the boxes, allowing one numeral for each box. Whole dollar amounts end immediately to the left of the decimal point and cents begin to the right.

Example: If your tax on lump-sum distribution using the 10-year tax option for line 24 is $2,406.18, your money field entry on line 24 should look like this:

.....▶

24.	,	2	4	0	6	.	1	8

Nonresident and part-year resident income percentage schedule

All New York State nonresidents and part-year residents, or New York State nonresident estates or trusts and part-year resident trusts who used Form IT-230, Part II, must complete lines 1 through 5 of the schedule below to figure the income percentage to enter on Worksheet C, line 6 (on page 2 of these instructions) and on Form IT-203, line 43, or on Form IT-205-A, Schedule 1, line 12.

To figure your income percentage, divide the amount on line 4 in the New York State amount column by the amount on line 4 in the Federal amount column. Carry the result to four decimal places. If the amount on line 4 in the New York State amount column is more than the amount on line 4 in the Federal amount column, the income percentage will be more than 100%.

2 Federal amount column - Enter the amount from Form IT-230, Part II, line 1. (This should be the same amount as shown on federal Form 4972, Part II, line 6.)	2

New York State nonresidents and part-year residents transfer the line 5 amount to Form IT-203, line 43. Part-year residents must also transfer the line 5 amount to Worksheet C, line 6 (on page 2 of these instructions). New York State nonresident estates or trusts and part-year resident trusts transfer the line 5 amount to Form IT-205-A, Schedule 1, line 12. Write Income percentage schedule, IT-230-I, in the margin to the right of line 43 on Form IT-203; or line 12 on Form IT-205-A, Schedule 1.

Part III

Nonresident – line 3 – Do not enter any amount on line 3. This income is not taxable to a nonresident.

Section 114 of Title 4 of the U.S. Code creates a limitation on state income taxation of certain pension income. The law is effective for pension income received in 1996 or thereafter and prohibits states from taxing certain retirement income of a nonresident including lump-sum distributions from a qualified retirement plan.

Part-year residents – lines 3 through 14 – If you used federal Form 4972, Part III, and you moved into or out of New York State, you are subject to the New York State separate tax on the ordinary income portion of a lump-sum distribution you received (or accrued) in your period of residence (from federal Form 4972, Part III, line 8). If you were a part-year resident who received or accrued a lump-sum distribution from a qualified retirement plan in your nonresident period, the income is not taxable. See Nonresident - line 3 above.

Line 4 – The death benefit exclusion allowed on federal Form 4972 for a beneficiary of a plan participant who died before August 21, 1996, will also be allowed on Form IT-230. However, if the sum of the capital gain and/or ordinary income part of the lump-sum distribution reported for federal purposes includes a lump-sum distribution from a pension plan of a deceased employee of New York State, or the United States, or their political subdivisions, the exclusion allowable for New York State purposes is determined by multiplying the federal exclusion by a fraction whose numerator is the sum of the capital gain and/or ordinary income part subject to New York State separate tax, and whose denominator is the sum of the capital gain and/or ordinary income part reported for federal purposes.

Line 15 – Your decimals should be carried to five places and rounded to four places. Drop amounts of 4 and under (.44454 becomes .4445). Round amounts of 5 and over to the next higher number (.44456 becomes .4446).
