

Instructions for Form IT-219 Credit for City of New York Unincorporated Business Tax

General information

For tax years beginning on or after January 1, 1997, a New York City resident individual, estate or trust, or a New York City part-year resident individual or trust may be eligible for a credit on their personal income tax return for New York City unincorporated business tax imposed. The credit is also available to partners in partnerships and beneficiaries of estates or trusts which are subject to the New York City unincorporated business tax.

The credit is only allowed against the following New York City taxes:

- the tax computed on taxable income;
- the separate tax on lump-sum distributions; and
- the tax on capital gain portion of a lump-sum distribution.

If you are a part-year resident and a member of a partnership, you are only eligible to claim a credit for your allocated share of the unincorporated business tax imposed on your partnership. For more information about claiming this credit as a partner, see the line instructions for Part I below.

All references in these instructions to partners in partnerships also include members of limited liability partnerships (LLP), and members of limited liability companies (LLC), limited liability investment companies (LLIC), and limited liability trust companies (LLTC) treated as partnerships.

The amount of credit allowed to a New York City resident or part-year resident with city taxable income of $42,000 or less is 65% of the unincorporated business taxes imposed. The credit decreases gradually from 65% to 15% for taxpayers with city taxable incomes between $42,000 and $142,000. For taxpayers with city taxable incomes greater than $142,000, the credit is 15% of the unincorporated business taxes imposed. However, the credit allowed cannot exceed the New York City personal income tax otherwise payable (the credit can only reduce your New York City tax liability to zero). Any unused credit cannot be refunded or carried over.

These instructions apply to the New York City personal income tax credit for unincorporated business taxes paid to New York City. They do not apply to the New York City unincorporated business tax return, which is administered by the New York City Department of Finance, 25 Elm Place, 4th Floor, Brooklyn NY 11201.

Who qualifies

To claim this credit, you must be a resident individual, estate or trust, or a part-year resident individual or trust of New York City for 2002; and you must be:

- the owner of a business,
- a beneficiary of an estate or trust, or
- a partner in a partnership; and the business, estate or trust, or partnership is subject to the New York City unincorporated business tax.

How to claim the credit

To claim the credit for New York City unincorporated business tax you must:

- Complete Form IT-219 using the information obtained from New York City Form NYC-202, Unincorporated Business Tax Return for Individuals, Estates and Trusts, and Form NYC-204, Unincorporated Business Tax Return for Partnerships, associated schedules and attached worksheets (if applicable).
- Transfer your credit computed on Form IT-219 to Form IT-201-ATT, IT-360.1, or IT-205, and attach Form IT-219 to your return.

Married taxpayers

If you file a joint New York State and City return, your joint New York City taxable income is used to determine the percentage of the unincorporated business tax for which you are entitled to claim a credit.

If you file separate New York State and City returns, only the city taxable income of the spouse who qualifies for the credit will be used to determine the percentage of the unincorporated business tax to be claimed as a credit on his or her New York State personal income tax return.

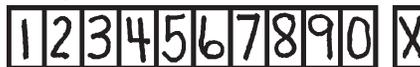

In most instances, a married couple may file separate New York City returns only if they file separate federal and New York State returns. Since many federal and state tax benefits are eliminated or reduced when separate returns are filed, you may want to figure your federal and state tax both ways to determine the best way to file.

Exception: If you are filing a joint New York State return, but you are filing separately for New York City purposes because one spouse is a resident of New York City and the other spouse is a nonresident or part-year resident of New York City, you must file a separate Form IT-219 for each spouse who qualifies for the credit.

Filling in your 2002 claim form

Form IT-219 for 2002 has been designed to let us use the latest scanning and image-processing equipment. Rectangular boxes and white entry areas have been printed on the form to guide you in making your handwritten entries. This will enable our scanning equipment to read your return more accurately and let us process it more efficiently. Please spend a moment reviewing the method below for making your entries:

- Please print (using a blue or black ballpoint pen; no pencils, please) or type all X marks and money amounts in the boxes or spaces provided.
- Do not use dollar signs, commas, decimal points, dashes, or any other punctuation marks or symbols.
- Write your numerals like this:

Carefully enter your money amounts so that the whole dollar amount ends in the box immediately to the left of the cents decimal and the cents amount starts in the box immediately to the right of the cents decimal.

- Make your money amount entries in the boxes allowing one numeral for each area.

Example: If your entry for line 9 is $329.68, your money field entry should look like:

- Leave blank any entry areas that do not apply to you, and treat these blanks as zeros. Do not enter zeros in these areas unless instructed to do so.
