New for 2010

Temporary deferral of certain tax credits

Effective for tax years beginning on or after January 1, 2010, and before January 1, 2013, certain tax credits will be subject to a temporary deferral in any tax year that the total amount of those credits, that would otherwise be used to reduce your tax liability or be refunded or credited as an overpayment to estimated tax, is in excess of $2 million (see Temporary deferral of certain tax credits on page 7).

Biofuel production credit

The credit cap of $2.5 million per taxpayer per tax year for up to no more than four consecutive tax years per biofuel plant will be imposed at the entity level. Therefore, the aggregate credit allowed to the partners in a partnership or shareholders in a New York S corporation that qualify to claim the biofuel production credit cannot exceed $2.5 million in a tax year. For more information, see Biofuel production credit on page 10.

Empire State film production credit

For years 2010 through 2014 the statewide aggregate dollar amount of the Empire State film production credit has been increased. If your credit is from this additional amount, you are required to report the assigned allocation year on your claim for credit and you must include a copy of your certificate with your tax return. In addition, a qualified independent film production company may now claim the Empire State film production credit. For more information, see Empire State film production credit on page 23.

Empire State film post-production credit

A new post production tax credit is available. A qualified film company which is not eligible for the Empire State film credit may qualify for the Empire State post production tax credit. For more information, see Empire State film post-production credit on page 25.

Empire Zones tax credits

The Empire Zone Program expired on June 30, 2010. However, if your business was certified as of June 30, 2010, you may continue to claim tax credits or carryover of tax credits. In addition, Chapter 57 of the Laws of 2010 made several amendments to the empire zones program for businesses that were certified as of June 30, 2010. For more information, see Empire zone (EZ) and qualified empire zone enterprise (QEZE) credits starting on page 26.

Qualified emerging technology companies (QETC) facilities, operations, and training credit

The credit cap of $250,000 per taxpayer per year will be imposed at the entity level. Therefore, the aggregate credit allowed to the partners in a partnership or shareholders in a New York S corporation that qualify to claim this credit cannot exceed $250,000 per year. For more information, see QETC facilities, operations, and training credit on page 45.

Rehabilitation of historic properties credit

The definition of a certified historic structure has been revised and the credit limitation will now apply at the entity level and not at the partner or shareholder level. In addition, the credit amount has been increased from 30% of the federal credit amount allowed to 100%, and the credit limitation per structure has been increased from $100,000 to $5,000,000 through tax year 2014. For more information, see Rehabilitation of historic properties credit on page 46.

Introduction

New York State offers a number of significant tax incentives designed to promote economic development, create jobs, stimulate capital investment, and encourage revitalization of distressed areas. The broad ranges of these tax credits underscore the state's commitment to attract and foster growth in the business community.

This publication contains information about the New York State and New York City business related income tax credits available to taxpayers who are taxable under Article 22 of the Tax Law (Personal Income Tax). The publication also describes the qualifications for the credits, whether or not the credits are refundable, the income tax credit forms involved, and where to get additional information.

For purposes of this publication, the term business refers to:

- A sole proprietor. A sole proprietor may claim a credit against their personal income tax for any business income tax credit that the sole-proprietorship is entitled to.

For information on filing a New York State personal income tax return, see the instructions for Form IT-201, Resident Income Tax Return (long form), Form IT-203, Nonresident and Part-Year Resident Income Tax Return, or Form IT-205, Fiduciary Income Tax Return.

- A partnership. Partners in a partnership (including members of LLC's that are treated as partnerships for federal tax purposes) may claim a credit against their personal income tax for their distributive share of the credit(s) that the partnership is entitled to.

For information on filing a partnership return, see the instructions for Form IT-204, Partnership Return.

- A New York S corporation. New York S corporation shareholders may claim a credit against their personal income tax for their pro rata share of the credit(s) that the New York S corporation is entitled to. See Credits available to New York S corporation shareholders on page 49.

For information on filing a franchise tax return (including claim forms for tax credits) for a New York S corporation, see the instructions for Form CT-3-S, New York S Corporation Franchise Tax Return.

Alternative fuels credit

Tax Law sections 606(p) and 606(i)

The alternative fuels credit is available for alternative-fuel vehicle refueling property used in a trade or business located in New York State. The property must be placed in service in tax years beginning after 2005 and before 2011.

Alternative-fuel vehicle refueling property, defined by Internal Revenue Code (IRC) section 30C, includes any property, other than buildings and structural components of buildings, used to store and dispense a clean-burning fuel into the tank of a motor vehicle propelled by the fuel. The storage or dispensing of the fuel must be located at the point where the fuel is delivered into the fuel tank of the motor vehicle. For the recharging of motor vehicles propelled by electricity, the property must be located at the point where the motor vehicles are recharged. The property must be eligible for the depreciation deduction, and the original use must commence with your business.

Leased property – If your business acquires property for use in your leasing business, and not for resale, you may qualify for the New York credit if the property qualifies for a federal credit. However, leases to public (governmental) or tax-exempt (charitable) organizations generally do not qualify for a federal credit, and therefore would not qualify for the New York credit.

The credit for alternative-vehicle refueling property is equal to 50% of the cost of the property that:

- is located in New York State, and
- is used 50% or more during the tax year in a trade or business carried on in New York State, and
- qualifies for a credit under IRC section 30C, but does not include alternative-fuel vehicle refueling property related to a qualified hybrid vehicle as this vehicle is defined in Tax Law section 606(p)(3)(B).

The alternative fuels credit is not refundable. However, any amount of credit or carryover of credit not deductible in the current tax year may be carried over to be deducted for the following year or years.

If you claim the alternative fuels credit on alternative-fuel vehicle refueling property, and that property ceases to qualify at any time before the end of the recovery period, you may have to recapture all or part of the credit you claimed.

To claim this credit, you must complete Form IT-253, Claim for Alternative Fuels Credit, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

Automated external defibrillator credit

Tax Law sections 606(s) and 606(i)

If your business purchases an automated external defibrillator, you may be entitled to the automated external defibrillator credit. However, the credit is not allowed for an automated defibrillator purchased for resale.

An automated external defibrillator, as defined under Public Health Law section 3000-b, is a medical device approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration that:

- is capable of recognizing the presence or absence, in a patient, of ventricular fibrillation and rapid ventricular tachycardia;
- is capable of determining, without intervention by an operator, whether defibrillation should be performed on the patient;
- upon determining that defibrillation should be performed, automatically charges and requests delivery of an electrical impulse to the patient's heart; and
- then, upon action by an operator, delivers an appropriate electrical impulse to the patient's heart to perform defibrillation.

The credit is equal to the lesser of the purchase cost of the unit, or $500. There is no limit on the number of units purchased during the tax year for which the credit may be taken. However, the credit cannot exceed $500 for each unit purchased.

The automated external defibrillator credit is not refundable, and any unused credit cannot be carried forward to a future year.

To claim this credit, you must complete Form IT-250, Claim for Credit for Purchase of an Automated External Defibrillator, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

Biofuel production credit

Tax Law sections 28, 606(jj), and 606(i)

The biofuel production credit is available for biofuel produced at a biofuel plant located in New York State. The credit is available for tax years beginning on or after January 1, 2006, and before January 1, 2013.

Biofuel means a fuel which includes biodiesel and ethanol. Biofuel may also include any other standard approved by the New York State Energy and Research Development Authority.

Biodiesel means a fuel comprised exclusively of mono-alkyl esters of long chain fatty acids derived from vegetable oils or animal fats, designated B100, which meets the specifications of the American Society of Testing and Materials designation D 6751-02.

Ethanol means ethyl alcohol manufactured in the United States and its territories and sold:

- for fuel use and which has been rendered unfit for beverage use in a manner and which is produced at a facility approved by the Federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives for the production of ethanol for fuel, or
- as denatured ethanol used by blenders and refiners which has been rendered unfit for beverage use.

Biofuel plant means a commercial facility located in New York State at which one or more biofuels are produced.

The credit allowed is fifteen cents ($.15) per gallon of biofuel produced at a biofuel plant located in New York State, after the production of the first 40,000 gallons per year presented to market. The credit is claimed in the same tax year that the biofuel is produced and is limited to $2.5 million per business per year. (If you are a partner in a partnership or a shareholder of a New York S corporation, the limitation is applied at the partnership or S corporation level.) The credit can be claimed for four consecutive years per biofuel plant.

If the amount of any biofuel production credit is in excess of your New York State tax liability, the excess will be treated as an overpayment of tax to be credited or refunded (without interest).

To claim this credit, you must complete Form IT-243, Claim for Biofuel Production Credit, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

Brownfield credits

The Brownfield Cleanup Program was created to encourage cleanup and redevelopment of brownfield sites in New York State (see Title 14 of Article 27 of the Environmental Conservation Law).

The brownfield tax credits are based on costs incurred for site preparation and property improvements, on-site groundwater cleanup costs, real property taxes, and environmental insurance premiums.

To qualify for these credits, your business must execute a Brownfield Cleanup Agreement (BCA) under the Environmental Conservation Law (ECL) and have a Certificate of Completion (CoC) issued by the Commissioner of Environmental Conservation. Your business may also qualify for the credits if the CoC was transferred to you from the person originally issued the CoC, upon the sale or transfer of the brownfield site to you.

Brownfields are any real property where redevelopment or re-use may be complicated by the presence or potential presence of a contaminant.

A qualified site means a site for which a CoC has been issued by the Commissioner of Environmental Conservation.

For more information about the Brownfield Cleanup Program, visit the Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) Web site (www.dec.ny.gov).

Brownfield redevelopment tax credit

Tax Law sections 21,
606(dd), and 606(i)

The brownfield redevelopment tax credit is available for the cleanup and redevelopment of a qualified brownfield site.

The credit is equal to the sum of the three credit components, computed for each tax year, for costs incurred in the remediation or redevelopment of a qualified site. These components are:

- the site preparation credit component;
- the on-site groundwater remediation credit component; and
- the tangible property credit component.

For qualified sites accepted into the Brownfield Cleanup Program prior to June 23, 2008, the brownfield redevelopment tax credit is calculated by applying a percentage of the costs that qualify with respect to each credit component. The amount of the credit increases if at least 50% of the qualified site is located in an environmental zone (EN-zone), designated as such by the Commissioner of Economic Development, or if the site is remediated to the highest environmental standard track (designated as Track 1 under ECL section 27-1415).

For qualified sites accepted into the Brownfield Cleanup Program on or after June 23, 2008, the brownfield redevelopment tax credit is calculated by applying a percentage of the costs that qualify with respect to each credit component. (The tangible property credit component is subject to a limitation.) The amount of the credit increases if at least 50% of the qualified site is located in an environmental zone (EN-zone), designated as such by the Commissioner of Economic Development, or if the qualified site is located in a brownfield opportunity area designated as such by the Secretary of State. For more information, see TSB-M-08(13)C, (8)I, Revisions to Brownfield Cleanup and Remediation Program.

The qualified costs used to calculate the amount of the credit components must be reduced by any grants received from a federal, state or local government, or an instrumentality of a public benefit corporation and used to pay for any of the qualified costs incurred, provided the amount of the grant was not included in the taxpayer's federal adjusted gross income.

The site preparation costs and on-site groundwater remediation costs paid or incurred with respect to a qualified site and the cost of tangible property used to compute the credit components only includes those costs paid or incurred by your business on or after the effective date of the BCA executed by your business and DEC (pursuant to ECL section 27-1409) or on or after the date the CoC was transferred to your business (pursuant to ECL section 27-1419).

Generally the credit is claimed in the tax year in which the CoC is issued. See the instructions for Form IT-611, Claim for Brownfield Redevelopment Tax Credit for Sites Accepted into the Brownfield Cleanup Program Prior to June 23, 2008, or Form IT-611.1, Claim for Brownfield Redevelopment Tax Credit for Sites Accepted into the Brownfield Cleanup Program on or after June 23, 2008.

If the amount of any brownfield redevelopment tax credit is in excess of your New York State tax liability, the excess will be treated as an overpayment of tax to be credited or refunded (without interest).

If the CoC is revoked, or if qualified property ceases to be in qualified use prior to the end of its useful life, a recapture of the credit must be computed.

Note: Property used to qualify for this credit may not be used as qualifying property for the investment tax credit (ITC) or the empire zone investment tax credit (EZ-ITC).

To claim this credit, you must complete Form IT-611, Claim for Brownfield Redevelopment Tax Credit for Qualified Sites Accepted into the Brownfield Cleanup Program Prior to June 23, 2008, or Form IT-611.1, Claim for Brownfield Redevelopment Tax Credit for Sites Accepted into the Brownfield Cleanup Program on or after June 23, 2008, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

Environmental remediation insurance credit

Tax Law sections 23, 606(ff), and 606(i)

If your business paid premiums for environmental remediation insurance with respect to a qualified brownfield site, you may be entitled to the environmental remediation insurance credit.

Environmental remediation insurance, as described in the Insurance Law section 3447, must be written pursuant to the provisions of section 1113(a)(13) (personal injury liability insurance) or 1113(a)(14) (property damage liability insurance) of the Insurance Law. It must also contain any of the following (or substantially similar or combined) coverages:

- coverage for the costs of on-site cleanup of pre-existing pollution conditions from the insured property that are outside the scope of the remedial work plan pursuant to ECL section 27-1411 for the insured property;

- coverage for third party claims for on-site bodily injury and property damage resulting from pre-existing pollution conditions outside the scope of the remedial work plan for the insured property;
- coverage that caps cleanup costs relating to the remedial work plan;
- coverage for the costs of State re-openers pursuant to ECL section 27-1421 or modifications to the remedial work plan to fill any gap in any liability limitation provided pursuant to ECL section 27-1421 for environmental conditions.

The amount of the credit is the lesser of:

1. 50% of the eligible premiums paid by the business on or after the effective date of the BCA executed by the business and DEC; or
2. $30,000.

The credit is allowed for the tax year in which the CoC is issued. The credit may be taken only once with respect to each CoC issued. However, if the date the CoC was issued occurred in a tax year that began prior to April 1, 2005, the date of issuance of the CoC is treated as if that date occurred in the business' first tax year beginning on or after April 1, 2005.

If the amount of any environmental remediation insurance credit is in excess of your New York State tax liability, the excess will be treated as an overpayment of tax to be credited or refunded (without interest).

If the CoC is revoked, the credit must be added back in the tax year in which the determination is final and no longer subject to judicial review.

If the premiums paid for environmental remediation insurance were deducted in computing federal taxable income, to the extent a credit is taken relating to these premiums, the amount of the credit taken is required to be added back to federal adjusted gross income pursuant to section 612(b)(37) of the Tax Law.

To claim this credit, you must complete Form IT-613, Claim for Environmental Remediation Insurance Credit, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

Remediated brownfield credit for real property taxes

Tax Law sections 22,
606(ee), and 606(i)

If your business is the developer of a qualified brownfield site, you may be entitled to the remediated brownfield credit for real property taxes. The credit is available for up to ten consecutive tax years, beginning with the later of the tax year the CoC is issued or the first tax year beginning on or after April 1, 2005.

A developer is a business who has:

- executed a BCA under the ECL and has a CoC issued by the Commissioner of Environmental Conservation; or
- obtained by purchase or conveyance all or any portion of a qualified site for which a CoC has been issued. The purchase or conveyance must occur within seven years of the effective date of the CoC. The taxpayer that is purchasing all or any portion of the qualified site and the taxpayer and any other party who has been issued the CoC may not be related persons (as defined in Internal Revenue Code (IRC) section 465(b)(3)(C)).

The amount of the credit is 25% of the product of the following three factors:

1. the benefit period factor;
2. the employment number factor; and
3. the eligible real property taxes paid or incurred by the developer of the qualified site during the tax year.

For a qualified site that is located entirely in an environmental zone (EN-Zone), the amount of the credit is equal to the product of the above three factors. For purposes of calculating the credit for a qualified site in an EN-Zone, only taxes imposed on real property attributable to the qualified site located in an EN-Zone and owned by the developer qualify as eligible real property taxes. The credit for each tax year is limited to the product of $10,000 and the average number of full-time employees employed by the developer of a qualified site and a lessee during the tax year.

If the amount of any remediated brownfield credit is in excess of your New York State tax liability, the excess will be treated as an overpayment of tax to be credited or refunded (without interest).

If the eligible real property taxes, which were the basis for the brownfield real property tax credit, are subsequently reduced as a result of a final order in any proceeding under Article 7 of the Real Property Tax Law, or other provision of law, you must recapture a portion of the credit allowed in the tax year the final order is issued. The recapture amount is equal to the amount of credit originally taken, less the amount of credit recalculated using the reduced eligible real property taxes. If the taxes are reduced for more than one year, you must determine how much of the reduction is attributable to each year covered by the final order and calculate the amount of credit that is required to be recaptured for each year based on the reduction.

If the CoC is revoked, a recapture of the credit must be computed.

If the qualified site is located in whole or in part in an empire zone (EZ) and your business meets the eligibility requirements (with respect to all or a portion of the qualified site) for both the brownfield real property tax credit and the qualified empire zone enterprise (QEZE) real property tax credit, your business may not claim both credits.

You must make an irrevocable election to claim either the brownfield real property tax credit or the QEZE real property tax credit. The election is made by filing a tax return in the first tax year the site is eligible for the brownfield real property tax credit and claiming either of the credits.

To claim this credit, you must complete Form IT-612, Claim for Remediated Brownfield Credit for Real Property Taxes, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

For more information on the QEZE credit for real property taxes, see QEZE credit for real property taxes on page 30 of this publication.

Clean heating fuel credit

Tax Law sections 606(mm) and 606(i)

A business that purchases bioheat for space heating or hot water production for residential purposes within New York State may be entitled to the clean heating fuel credit. The credit is available for tax years beginning in 2006 through 2011 and applies to bioheat purchased on or after July 1, 2006, and before July 1, 2007; and on or after January 1, 2008, and before January 1, 2012. (The credit is not available for bioheat purchased on or after July 1, 2007, and before January 1, 2008.)

Bioheat means a fuel comprised of biodiesel blended with conventional home heating oil, which meets the specifications of the American Society of Testing and Materials (ASTM) designation D 396 or D 975.

Biodiesel means a fuel comprised exclusively of mono-alkyl esters of long chain fatty acids derived from vegetable oils or animal fats, designated B 100 (pure biodiesel), which meets the specifications of ASTM designation D 6751.

Residential purposes means any use of a structure, or part of a structure, as a place of abode maintained by or for a person, whether or not owned by such person, on other than a temporary or transient basis. This includes multi-family dwelling units such as multi-family homes, apartment buildings, condominiums, and cooperative apartments. The structure must be located in New York State.

Residential purposes do not include the part of a structure used as a hotel, motel, or similar space, except for those units used by the same occupant for at least 90 consecutive days.

The credit amount equals $0.01 per gallon for each percent of biodiesel included in the bioheat, not to exceed $0.20 per gallon. If your business makes more than one purchase of bioheat that qualifies for this credit during the tax year and the percentage of biodiesel included in the bioheat varies, a separate calculation must be made for each purchase of bioheat.

Note: The percentage of biodiesel included in the bioheat is the number or numbers preceded by the letter B in the bioheat designation. For example, bioheat designated B5 contains 5% biodiesel.

If your business purchases bioheat for a premises that has both residential and nonresidential space but has only one tank for the storage of the bioheat fuel, you will need to determine the percentage of the premises used for residential purposes in order to properly compute the credit.

The credit is claimed for the tax year in which the bioheat is purchased. In general, bioheat is deemed purchased on the date of delivery regardless of when the payment is made. For example, bioheat that is paid for through a budget payment plan whereby you make monthly payments to the supplier and the supplier charges your account for the cost of the bioheat delivered, will be deemed purchased on the date the delivery was made, even if your budget account does not contain sufficient funds to cover the cost of the delivery. However, bioheat that is purchased under a plan that requires you to prepay the supplier for a certain number of gallons of bioheat at a fixed price will be treated as purchased on the date the prepayment was made, not the date of delivery.

If the amount of any clean heating fuel credit is in excess of your New York State tax liability, the excess will be treated as an overpayment of tax to be credited or refunded (without interest).

To claim this credit you must complete Form IT-241, Claim for Clean Heating Fuel Credit, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

For more information, see TSB-M-08(5)C, (1)I, Clean Heating Fuel Credit.

Conservation easement tax credit

Tax Law section 606(kk)

If your business owns land in New York State that is subject to a conservation easement held by a public or private conservation agency, your business may be entitled to a credit of 25% of the allowable school district, county, and town real property taxes paid during the tax year on the land subject to the conservation easement.

Conservation easement means a perpetual and permanent conservation easement as defined in Article 49 of the Environmental Conservation Law (ECL) on land located in New York State that:

- is held by a public or private conservation agency;

- serves to protect open space, biodiversity, or scenic, natural, agricultural, watershed, or historic preservation resources;
- is filed with the Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) by the person causing the document to be so recorded, as provided for in ECL Article 49;
- complies with the provisions of ECL, Article 49, Title 3; and
- complies with the provisions of Internal Revenue Code (IRC) section 170(h).

Dedications of land for open space through the execution of conservation easements for the purpose of fulfilling density requirements to obtain subdivision or building permits are not considered conservation easements for purposes of this credit.

Note: You should maintain adequate records to substantiate the conservation easement's compliance with the provisions of IRC 170(h), including but not limited to a copy of federal Form 8283, Noncash Charitable Contributions, for the year of the donation. Under certain circumstances, a letter from the public or private conservation agency may also be adequate.

Land means a fee simple title to real property located in New York State, with or without improvements. This includes rights of way; water and riparian rights; easements; privileges, and all other rights or interests of any land or description in, relating to, or connected with real property, excluding buildings, structures, or improvements.

Public or private conservation agency means:

- any state, local, or federal government body; or
- any private not-for-profit charitable corporation or trust that is authorized to do business in New York State; organized and operated to protect land for natural resources, conservation or historic preservation purposes; is exempt from federal tax under IRC section 501(c)(3), and has the power to acquire, hold, and maintain land and/or interests in land for such purpose.

The conservation easement credit cannot exceed $5,000 in any given year. Additionally, when this credit is combined with any other income tax credit claimed for school district, county, and town real property taxes, the amount of the combined credits cannot exceed the total amount of these taxes.

If the amount of any conservation easement tax credit is in excess of your New York State tax liability, the excess will be treated as an overpayment of tax to be credited or refunded (without interest).

To claim this credit, you must complete Form IT-242, Claim for Conservation Easement Tax Credit, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205. This credit is not available to New York S corporations.

Credit for New York City
unincorporated business tax

Tax Law section 1310(e) and section 11-1706(c) of the Administrative Code of the City of New York

If you are a New York City resident or part-year resident individual, estate, or trust, you may be eligible for a credit on your personal income tax return for any New York City unincorporated business tax imposed on a business you operated. The credit is also available to partners in partnerships and beneficiaries of estates or trusts that are subject to the New York City unincorporated business tax.

The Unincorporated Business Tax (UBT) is imposed on the business income of every unincorporated business that is carried on, wholly or partly, in New York City.

Unincorporated businesses includes trades, businesses, professions, and occupations that are conducted by, engaged in, or in the process of being liquidated by an individual, partnership, limited liability company, fiduciary, association, estate or trust. The UBT is administered by the New York City Department of Finance (www.nyc.gov).

The amount of credit allowed to a New York City resident or part-year resident with city taxable income of $42,000 or less is 100% of the UBT imposed. The credit decreases gradually from 100% to 23% if your city taxable income is more than $42,000 but less than $142,000. If your city taxable income is $142,000 or more, the credit is 23% of the UBT imposed.

The credit for New York City unincorporated business tax is applied against the New York City personal income tax, the New York City separate tax on the ordinary income portion of a lump-sum distribution, and the New York City tax on the capital gain portion of a lump-sum distribution.

The credit is not refundable and cannot be carried over to future years.

To claim this credit, you must complete Form IT-219, Credit for New York City Unincorporated Business Tax, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, or IT-205.

Credit for taxicabs and livery service vehicles accessible to persons with disabilities

Tax Law sections 606(o) and 606(i)

If your business provides taxicab or livery services, you may be entitled to a credit for taxicabs and livery service vehicles accessible to persons with disabilities. The credit is allowed for the incremental cost associated with the purchase of a vehicle or the conversion of a motor vehicle to be accessible to persons with disabilities provided the vehicle is used for taxicab or livery services. The incremental costs must be incurred on or after January 1, 2006, and before January 1, 2011, and must be claimed in the year in which the incremental costs are incurred.

Taxicab means every motor vehicle, other than a bus, used in the business of transporting passengers for compensation and operated in that business under a license or permit issued by a local authority. However, it does not mean vehicles that are rented or leased without a driver.

Livery means every motor vehicle, other than a taxicab or bus, used in the business of transporting passengers for compensation. However, it does not mean vehicles that are rented or leased without a driver.

Bus means a motor vehicle having a seating capacity of fifteen or more passengers in addition to the driver and used for the transportation of persons.

Motor vehicle means every vehicle operated or driven upon a public highway and is propelled by any power other than muscular power, except for an electrically driven mobility assistance device operated or driven by a person with a disability, a vehicle that runs only upon rails or tracks, a snowmobile, and an all terrain vehicle.

Providing a taxicab or livery service means the operation of a taxicab or livery in New York State in accordance with required licenses, permits, or registrations issued by a local authority and the New York State Department of Motor Vehicles.

Local authority means every county, municipal or other local board, body or officer, county park commission, parkway authority, bridge authority, bridge and tunnel authority, the Office of Parks and Recreation, the New York State Thruway Authority, or similar body or person having authority to enact laws or regulations relating to traffic under the constitution and laws of this state.

Incremental cost means the expenses specifically associated with:

- the excess purchase price of a vehicle accessible to persons with disabilities over the purchase price of a motor vehicle that is the same make and model except for the equipment necessary to convert it to a vehicle accessible to persons with disabilities; or

- in the case of a conversion of an existing motor vehicle, it includes the equipment and installation costs necessary to convert it to a vehicle accessible to persons with disabilities.

Vehicle accessible to persons with disabilities means a motor vehicle, less than 22 feet in length, that complies with federal regulations promulgated pursuant to the Americans with Disabilities Act applicable to vans under 22 feet in length by the federal Department of Transportation (49 CFR Parts 37 and 38) and the federal Architecture and Transportation Barriers Compliance Board (CFR title 36, section 1192.23); and with the Federal Motor Vehicle Safety Standards (CFR title 49, Part 571).

The amount of credit is equal to the incremental cost for a vehicle accessible to persons with disabilities used in providing taxicab or livery service. The credit can only be claimed once per vehicle and may not exceed $10,000 per vehicle.

The credit is not refundable. However, any amount of credit or carryover of credit not deductible in the current tax year may be carried over to be deducted for the following year or years.

To claim this credit, you must complete Form IT-239, Claim for Credit for Taxicabs and Livery Service Vehicles Accessible to Persons with Disabilities, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

Empire State commercial production credit

Tax Law sections 28,
606(jj), and 606(i)

If your business is a qualified commercial production company, you may be entitled to the Empire State commercial production credit. This credit is available for tax years beginning on or after January 1, 2007, and expires on December 31, 2011.

The credit is administered by the Governor's Office for Motion Picture and Television Development which is responsible for determining both eligibility for the credit and the amount of credit. To qualify for this credit, you must file an application with the Governor's Office for Motion Picture and Television Development and receive an allocation of credit.

The credit is based on qualified production costs paid or incurred in the production of a qualified commercial in New York State and is allowed for the tax year in which the production of the qualified commercial is completed.

Qualified commercial production company means a corporation, partnership, limited partnership, or other entity or individual that is principally engaged in the production of a qualified commercial and controls the production of the qualified commercial and is not the distributor or contracting entity for production of the commercial.

Qualified commercial means an advertisement that is recorded on film, audiotape, videotape, or digital medium in New York for multi-market distribution by way of radio, television networks, cable, satellite, or motion picture theaters.

Qualified commercial does not include: news or current affairs programs; interview or talk programs; network promos (for example commercials promoting television series or movies); how-to or instructional commercials or programs; commercials or programs consisting entirely of stock footage; trailers promoting theatrical films, sporting events or sporting programs, game shows, award ceremonies, daytime dramas (soap operas), reality programs or music videos; or a production for which records are required under section 2257 of Title 18 of the United States Code, to be maintained with respect to any performer in such production (reporting of books, films, etc., with respect to sexually explicit conduct).

There are three component credit programs. The three programs have different threshold requirements, annual allocations, and credit calculations.

1. Upstate program – The upstate program provides a 5% tax credit for qualified commercial companies which film or record qualified commercials outside the Metropolitan Commuter Transportation District (MCTD) but within New York State. (The MCTD includes New York City (the counties of New York (Manhattan), Bronx, Kings (Brooklyn), Queens, Richmond (Staten Island)), and the counties of Rockland, Nassau, Suffolk, Orange, Putnam, Dutchess, and Westchester.)
2. Downstate program – The downstate program provides a 5% tax credit for qualified commercial companies which film or record qualified commercials within the MCTD.
3. Growth program – The growth program provides a 20% tax credit based on year-to-year growth in a qualified production company's qualified production costs. It does not matter where in New York State the qualified costs were incurred.

If the amount of the credit(s) exceeds your tax for the year, 50% of the excess will be treated as an overpayment of tax to be credited or refunded (without interest) and the balance not credited or refunded will be carried over to the next succeeding tax year. Any amount of the credit(s) carried over to the next succeeding tax year that exceeds your tax for that year will be treated as an overpayment of tax to be credited or refunded (without interest).

If the commercial production credit is claimed for qualified production costs, no other income tax credit may be claimed for those costs.

To claim this credit you must complete Form IT-246, Claim for Empire State Commercial Production Credit, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

For information on the application process, threshold requirements, and annual allocation amounts, visit the New York State Governor’s Office for Motion Picture and Television Development Web site (www.nylovesfilm.com) or call (212) 803-2330.

Empire State film production credit

Tax Law sections 24, 606(gg), and 606(i)

If your business is a qualified film and television production company or a qualified independent film production company, you may be entitled to the Empire State film production credit. The state credit is administered by the Governor’s Office for Motion Picture and Television Development which is responsible for determining both eligibility for the credit and the amount of credit. To qualify for this credit, you must file an application with the Governor’s Office for Motion Picture and Television Development and receive an allocation of credit.

Note: For tax year 2010, the statewide aggregate dollar amount of the credit has been increased. The Governor’s Office for Motion Picture and Television Development is required to list the allocation year assigned on your Certificate of Tax Credit if the credit is from this additional amount (additional pool 2). You are required to report the assigned allocation year on your claim for credit and you must include a copy of your certificate with your tax return.

Qualified film production company means a corporation, partnership, limited partnership, or other entity or individual that is principally engaged in the production of a qualified film and controls the qualified film during production.

Qualified independent film production company means a corporation, partnership, limited partnership, or other entity or individual that:

- is principally engaged in the production of a qualified film with a maximum budget of $15 million;
- controls the film during production; and
- is not a publicly-traded entity or has no more than 5% beneficial ownership by a publicly-traded entity.

Qualified film means a feature-length film, television film, television pilot and/or each episode of a television series, regardless of the medium by means of which the film, pilot, or episode is created or conveyed.

Qualified film does not include: a documentary film; a news or current affairs program; an interview or talk program; a how-to or instructional film or program; a film or program consisting primarily of stock footage, sporting event, or sporting program; a game show, an award ceremony, a film or program intended primarily for industrial, corporate, or institutional end-users; a fund-raising film or program; a daytime drama (soap opera); a commercial; a music video or reality program; or a production for which records are required under section 2257 of Title 18 of the United States Code, to be maintained with respect to any performer in such production (reporting of books, films, etc., with respect to sexually explicit conduct).

The credit is based on the qualified production costs and can equal up to 30% of the qualified production costs paid or incurred in the production of certain qualified films and television shows.

The amount of credit allowed is allocated by the New York State Governor's Office for Motion Picture and Television Development.

For tax years beginning on or after January 1, 2009, the tax year in which the credit may be claimed has changed for credits of one million dollars or more, as described below:

- If the amount of the credit shown on your certificate of tax credit received from the New York State Governor's Office for Motion Picture and Television Development is at least one million dollars but less than five million dollars, the credit must be claimed over a two-year period.
- If the amount of the credit shown is five million dollars or more, the credit must be claimed over a three-year period.

A credit that has been allocated funds from additional pool 2 may not be claimed before the later of:

- the tax year the production of the qualified film is complete, or
- the tax year immediately following the allocation year assigned on the Certificate of Tax Credit.

If the amount of the credit allowable for any tax year exceeds your tax for that year, the excess will be treated as an overpayment of tax to be credited or refunded (without interest).

If the film production credit is claimed for qualified production costs, no other income tax credit may be claimed for those costs.

To claim this credit you must complete Form IT-248, Claim for Empire State Film Production Credit, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

For definitions, rules, and regulations regarding the credit, visit the New York State Governor's Office for Motion Picture and Television Development's Web site (www.nylovesfilm.com) or call (212) 803-2330.

Empire State film post-production credit

Tax Law sections 31, 606(qq), and 606(i)

If your business is a qualified film production company, you may be entitled to the Empire State film post-production credit. The credit is administered by the Governor's Office for Motion Picture and Television Development which is responsible for determining both eligibility for the credit and the amount of credit. To qualify for this credit, you must file an application with the Governor's Office for Motion Picture and Television Development and receive an allocation of credit.

Qualified film production company and qualified film have the same meaning as in the Empire State film production credit, see page 23.

Post production costs means production of original content for a qualified film employing traditional, emerging and new workflow techniques used in post-production for picture, sound and music editorial, rerecording and mixing, visual effects, graphic design, original scoring, animation, and musical composition. It does not include the editing of previously produced content for a qualified film.

Post production facility means a building and/or complex of buildings and their improvements on which film are intended to be post produced.

Qualified post production facility means a post production facility located in New York State, engaged in finishing a qualified film.

The amount of credit is equal to 10% of the qualified post production costs paid in the production of a qualified film at a qualified post production facility. The credit is allowed for the tax year in which the production of the qualified film is completed.

If the amount of the credit exceeds your tax for the year, 50% of the excess will be treated as a refund or an overpayment of tax to be credited to next year's tax. The balance not refunded or credited will be carried over to the next succeeding tax year. Any amount of the credit carried over in the succeeding tax year that exceeds your tax for that year will be treated as a refund or an overpayment of tax to be credited to next year's tax. Interest will not be paid on the refund or overpayment.

If the film post-production credit is claimed for qualified post-production costs, no other income tax credit may be claimed for those costs.

To claim this credit you must complete Form IT-261, Claim for Empire State Film Post-Production Credit, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

For definitions, rules, and regulations regarding the credit, visit the New York State Governor's Office for Motion Picture and Television Development's Web site (www.nylovesfilm.com).

Empire zone (EZ)
and qualified empire zone
enterprise (QEZE) credits

The Empire Zone (EZ) Program expired on June 30, 2010. However, if your business was certified as of June 30, 2010, you may continue to claim EZ and QEZE tax credits or carryover of tax credits if you qualify.

Note: Any business that was required to obtain an EZ retention certificate but was denied one will not be eligible to claim the EZ credits, QEZE credits, or carryover of EZ or QEZE credits from prior tax years. When filing a tax return claiming any EZ or QEZE credits (including carryovers) for a tax year that begins on or after January 1, 2008, you may be required to attach the EZ retention certificate to your tax return.

An empire zone (EZ) is an area within New York State that has been designated as an empire zone according to Article 18-B of the General Municipal Law (GPL). The area must be characterized by pervasive poverty, high unemployment, and general economic distress.

A qualified empire zone enterprise (QEZE) is a business certified as eligible to receive benefits under Article 18-B of the GML prior to July 1, 2010, that annually meets an employment test during its business tax benefit period. A QEZE also includes a clean energy enterprise (CEE) certified under Article 18-B of the GML that annually meets an employment test.

For more information, visit the department Web site or see the instructions for the applicable EZ or QEZE tax credit form(s).

EZ capital tax credit
Tax Law sections 606(l) and 606(i)

If your business made a contribution to an approved community project before the expiration of the EZ Program (June 30, 2010), you may continue to claim this credit for any additional contributions you make to that approved project before April 1, 2014. The project and all contributions must have been approved by the Commissioner of Economic Development prior to June 30, 2010.

Direct equity investments made to certified EZ businesses after June 30, 2010, will no longer qualify for the EZ capital tax credit.

The total amount of credit you will be allowed for all years may not exceed $300,000, and the total credit allowed for each qualified investment and contribution may not exceed $100,000. However, if you are married and required to file a separate return, the $100,000 limitation is reduced to $50,000, and the $300,000 limitation is reduced to $150,000, unless your spouse has no credit allowable for the tax year that ends with or within your tax year.

The EZ capital tax credit may not exceed your personal income tax due, and the credit and carryover of credit cannot exceed 50% of your personal income tax before subtracting certain credits.

The EZ capital tax credit is not refundable. However, any amount of credit or carryover of credit not deductible in the current tax year may be carried over to be deducted for the following year or years. However, if the business was subject to the recertification process and did not receive an EZ retention certificate as part of that process, you are not allowed the credit for investments in certified EZ businesses or any carryovers of the credit. No retention certificate is needed to claim the EZ capital tax credit for contributions to community development projects, or carryovers of the credit from the contributions.

If you sell, transfer, or otherwise dispose of stock, a partnership interest, or other ownership interest arising from the making of a qualified investment, or if you recover a contribution or investment that was the basis for the allowance of the credit, and the disposal or the recovery occurs during the tax year or within 36 months from the close of the tax year when the credit was allowed, the difference between the credit taken and the credit allowed must be added back.

To claim this credit, you must complete Form IT-602, Claim for EZ Capital Tax Credit, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

EZ wage tax credit
Tax Law sections 606(k)
and 606(i)

If your business is certified under Article 18-B of the General Municipal Law (GML) and meets certain increased employment levels in New York State and in an EZ during the tax year, you may be entitled to the EZ wage tax credit. However, no credit will be allowed for any tax year beginning more than four years after the tax year in which designation as an EZ expired. Therefore, the EZ wage tax credit may not be claimed for tax years beginning on or after July 1, 2014. However, you may continue to use any credit carryovers from previous years.

The EZ wage tax credit is allowed for up to five consecutive tax years beginning with the first tax year in which all three of the following eligibility requirements are met:

- EZ wages are paid; and
- the average number of full-time employees in New York State for the current tax year exceeds the average number of full-time employees in New York State during the four years immediately preceding the first tax year for which the EZ wage tax credit is claimed; and
- the average number of full-time employees in the EZ for the current year exceeds the average number of full-time employees in the EZ or area comprising the EZ during the four years immediately preceding the first tax year for which the EZ wage tax credit is claimed.

The total credit used in the current tax year may not exceed 50% of the tax due for the current tax year. Any amount of EZ wage tax credit or carryover of credit not deductible in the current tax year may be carried over to be deducted for the following year or years. However, if the business was subject to the recertification process and did not receive an EZ retention certificate as part of that process, you are not allowed the credit or any carryover of credit from a prior tax year.

If you qualify as the owner of a new business, you may elect to treat 50% of the EZ wage tax credit available as a carryforward to following years as an overpayment to be refunded without interest or applied as a payment against next year's tax.

To claim the EZ wage tax credit, you must complete Form IT-601, Claim for EZ Wage Tax Credit, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

EZ investment tax credit (EZ-ITC) and EZ-ITC for the financial services industry

Tax Law sections 606(j) and 606(i)

If your business is certified under Article 18-B of the General Municipal Law (GML) and places qualified property in service in an EZ, you may be entitled to the EZ investment tax credit (EZ-ITC) or the EZ-ITC for the financial services industry.

Note: A business that was certified as of June 30, 2010, will continue to be deemed certified for purposes of the EZ-ITC until April 1, 2014. In addition, the areas designated as EZs in which your business is certified as an EZ as of June 30, 2010, will continue to be deemed EZs for purposes of the EZ-ITC until April 1, 2014.

The EZ-ITC may not reduce your personal income tax liability to less than zero. Any amount of either EZ-ITC or carryover of credit not deductible in the current tax year may be carried over to be deducted for the following year or years. However, if your business was decertified prior to the recertification process, you may only carry forward either credit for seven years. If your business was subject to the recertification process and did not receive an EZ retention certificate as part of that process, you are not allowed the credit or any carryover of EZ-ITC from a prior tax year.

If you qualify as the owner of a new business, you may elect to treat 50% of the current EZ investment tax credit available to be carried forward as an overpayment of tax to be refunded.

When property on which either EZ investment tax credit has been allowed is disposed of or ceases to be in qualified use before the end of its useful life, the difference between the credit taken and the credit allowed for actual use must be recaptured in the year of disposition or disqualification. The decertification of a business enterprise in an EZ constitutes a disposal or cessation of qualified use on the effective date of the decertification.

Note: For tax years beginning on or after December 20, 2005, the EZ investment tax credit recapture provisions do not apply with respect to manufacturing property where a partner disposes of a partnership interest, or the partnership disposes of the manufacturing property, if:

- the basis of the manufacturing property (or a project that includes such property) was $300 million or more for federal income tax purposes at the time it was placed in service by the partnership in the EZ, and
- the partner owned the partnership interest for at least three years from the date the property was placed in service by the partnership in the EZ.

However, if the property ceases to be in qualified use by the partnership after it is placed in service, the recapture provisions do apply to such partner in the year the property ceases to be in qualified use.

To claim the EZ-ITC credit, you must complete Form IT-603, Claim for EZ Investment Tax Credit and EZ Employment Incentive Credit, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

To claim the EZ-ITC for the financial services industry, you must complete Form IT-605, Claim for EZ Investment Tax Credit and EZ Employment Incentive Credit for the Financial Services Industry, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

EZ employment incentive credit (EZ-EIC) and EZ-EIC for the financial services industry

Tax Law sections 606(j-1) and 606(i)

If your business acquires, constructs, reconstructs, or erects property for which an EZ investment tax credit (EZ-ITC) or an EZ-ITC for the financial services industry is allowed, you may be entitled to the EZ employment incentive credit (EZ-EIC) or the EZ-EIC for the financial services industry for each of the three years following the year you qualified for the EZ-ITC or the EZ-ITC for the financial services industry.

Note: A business that is certified as an EZ business under Article 18-B of the GML as of June 30, 2010, will continue to be deemed in the EZ in which the business was certified as an EZ business on the day immediately preceding the day the EZ Program expired for each of the three years next succeeding the tax year for which the EZ-ITC is allowed.

The amount of either EZ-EIC allowed is 30% of the original tax credit for each of the three years following the year for which the original EZ investment tax credit was allowed. However, the credits are allowed only for those years during which your average number of employees in the EZ is at least 101% of the average number of employees in the EZ during the tax year immediately preceding the tax year for which the original EZ-ITC or the EZ-ITC for the financial services industry was allowed.

You are subject to recapture of the EZ employment incentive credits if the property is disposed of or ceases to be in qualified use prior to the end of its useful life.

The EZ employment incentive credits may not reduce your personal income tax liability to less than zero. Any amount of either EZ-EIC or carryover of the credits not deductible in the current tax year may be carried over to be deducted for the following year or years.

If you qualify as the owner of a new business, you may elect to have 50% of the excess of the current year EZ employment incentive credit refunded.

To claim the EZ-EIC, you must complete Form IT-603, Claim for EZ Investment Tax Credit and EZ Employment Incentive Credit, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204 or IT-205.

To claim the EZ-EIC for the financial services industry, you must complete Form IT-605, Claim for EZ Investment Tax Credit and EZ Employment Incentive Credit for the Financial Services Industry, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

Qualified empire zone enterprise (QEZE) credit for real property taxes

Tax Law sections 15, 606(bb), and 606(i)

The QEZE credit for real property taxes paid or incurred on real property owned, or in some cases leased by the QEZE that is located in an EZ in which the QEZE is certified.

If your business is a QEZE and was certified as of the expiration of the EZ Program (June 30, 2010), your business will be deemed certified for purposes of the QEZE credit for real property taxes for the remainder of the tax benefit period and you may continue to claim the credit as long as your business meets the requirements for the credit.

Note: The information in this section applies to a QEZE certified on or after April 1, 2005. For information on a QEZE first certified prior to April 1, 2005, see the instructions for Form IT-606, Claim for QEZE Credit for Real Property Taxes.

A business enterprise certified on or after April 1, 2005, may be a QEZE for up to 10 years provided the employment test is met. (Owners of a qualified investment project and/or a significant capital investment project may qualify for an extended business tax benefit period.)

A business enterprise that becomes a certified empire zone business under Article 18-B of the General Municipal Law and subsequently has its certification revoked under that article will cease to be a QEZE on the first day of the taxable year in which the business enterprise's certification is revoked.

If the amount of any QEZE credit for real property taxes is in excess of your New York State tax liability, the excess will be treated as an overpayment of tax to be credited or refunded (without interest).

If the eligible real property taxes which were the basis for a QEZE credit for real property taxes are subsequently reduced as a result of a final order in any proceeding under the Real Property Tax Law Article 7 or other provision of law, the QEZE must recapture a portion of the credit allowed in the year the final order is issued. Recapture is required only if the credit claimed in a tax year exceeds the amount of real property taxes paid after taking into account the reduction.

To claim this credit, you must complete Form IT-606, Claim for QEZE Credit for Real Property Taxes, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

Qualified empire zone enterprise (QEZE) tax reduction credit

Tax Law sections 16, 606(cc), and 606(i)

Note: The following information applies to a QEZE certified on or after April 1, 2005. For information on a QEZE first certified prior to April 1, 2005, see the instructions for Form IT-604.

A business may be a QEZE for up to 10 years provided the employment test is met. (Owners of qualified investment project and/or a significant capital investment project may qualify for an extended business tax benefit period.)

A business enterprise that becomes a certified empire zone business under Article 18-B of the General Municipal Law and subsequently has its certification revoked under that article will cease to be a QEZE on the first day of the taxable year in which the business enterprise's certification is revoked.

The QEZE tax reduction credit is not refundable, and any unused credit may not be carried forward to a future year.

To claim this credit, you must complete Form IT-604, Claim for QEZE Tax Reduction Credit, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

Employment of persons with disabilities credit

Tax Law sections 606(o) and 606(i)

If your business employs qualified persons with disabilities, you may be entitled to the employment of persons with disabilities credit. The qualified employee must be certified by the New York State Department of Labor's Economic Development Services Unit.

The credit amount is 35% of the first $6,000 of qualified first-year wages or qualified second-year wages. A credit of up to $2,100 per employee is available.

As long as the federal work opportunity credit for vocational rehabilitation referrals under Internal Revenue Code (IRC) section 51 (see federal Form 5884) is in effect for an employee, the New York credit is 35% of the first $6,000 of the employee's qualified second-year wages.

If the federal work opportunity credit for vocational rehabilitation referrals under IRC section 51 (see federal Form 5884) is not in effect for an employee, the New York credit is based on 35% of the first $6,000 of the employee's qualified first-year wages.

The employment of persons with disabilities credit is not refundable. However, any amount of credit or carryover of credit not deductible in the current tax year may be carried over to be deducted for the following year or years.

To claim this credit, you must complete Form IT-251, Credit for Employment of Persons with Disabilities, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

For more information, see TSB-M-98(1)I, Credit for Employment of Persons with Disabilities.

Farmers' school tax credit

Tax Law sections 606(n) and 606(i)

An individual, estate, or trust engaged in the business of farming may be entitled to an income tax credit for the amount of eligible school district property taxes paid on qualified agricultural property. In addition, if a partnership (including a limited liability company treated as a partnership), a New York S corporation, a New York C corporation that has a special gross income from farming election on Form CT-47.1, Election or Termination of Election to Deem Income for Purposes of the Farmers' School Tax Credit, or an estate or a trust is engaged in the business of farming or owns qualified agricultural property, an individual, estate, or trust that is a partner, member, shareholder or beneficiary of the entity may be entitled to the credit.

You are engaged in the business of farming if you cultivate, operate, or manage a farm for gain or profit, even though the operation may not produce a profit every year.

You are engaged in the business of farming if you are a partner in a partnership, a shareholder in a New York S corporation, a shareholder in a New York C corporation that has a special gross income from farming election, or the beneficiary of an estate or trust that operates or manages a farm for gain or profit.

You are also engaged in the business of farming if you rent your farm property to another person who uses the property in agricultural production, and the rental arrangement meets certain conditions (see the instructions for Form IT-217, Claim for Farmers' School Tax Credit).

Qualified agricultural property includes land and land improvements located in New York State that are used in agricultural production. It also includes structures and buildings (except for buildings used by the taxpayer for residential purposes) that are located on the land and used or occupied to carry out agricultural production. Qualified agricultural property you purchased under a land sales contract is considered owned by you if you are obligated under the land sales contract to pay the school district property taxes on the purchased property and you are entitled to deduct those taxes as a tax expense for federal income tax purposes.

Land used in agricultural production includes land under structures or buildings which are qualified agricultural property and land in support of a farm operation, such as farm ponds, drainage swamps, wetlands, and access roads. It also includes land set aside or retired under a federal supply management or soil conservation program and land that at the time it becomes subject to a conservation easement would have been qualified agricultural property.

A land sales contract, commonly referred to as an installment land contract, is an agreement to transfer land ownership in exchange for a series of principal and interest payments. The seller does not transfer formal title to the property to the buyer until all or a certain number of payments are made. In addition to an installment land contract, a land sales contract may also be referred to as contract for deed, bond for deed, conditional sale of real estate, contract for sale of land, and land contract. A lease with an option to purchase type arrangement is not a land sales contract.

If you are an eligible farmer, you will be able to claim the credit for eligible school district property taxes paid on qualified agricultural property owned by your father, mother, grandfather, grandmother, brother or sister, provided that (a) you have entered into a written agreement expressing your intent to eventually purchase that qualified agricultural property and (b) the owner(s) has given you a document stating that the owner(s) is waiving his or her right to claim the credit, if any, on the qualified agricultural property that is subject to the written agreement.

If the amount of any farmers' school tax credit is in excess of your New York State tax liability, the excess will be treated as an overpayment of tax to be credited or refunded (without interest).

If all or a portion of your qualified agricultural property is converted to nonqualified use before the end of the second tax year following the year in which you first claimed a credit, you may be required to recapture all or part of the credit you claimed.

To claim this credit, you must complete Form IT-217, Claim for Farmers' School Tax Credit, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, or IT-205.

For more information see Publication 51, Questions and Answers on New York State's Farmers' School Tax Credit, and TSB-M-03(7)C, (8)I, Farmer's School Tax Credit Eligibility Enhanced.

Fuel cell electric generating equipment credit

Tax Law sections 606(g-2) and 606(i)

Tax year 2008 was the last year you could file a new claim for the fuel cell electric generating equipment credit. However, if you have a carryover of the credit from a prior year, you may continue to carry that credit forward for the following five years.

To claim a carryover credit, you must complete Form IT-259, Claim for Fuel Cell Electric Generating Equipment Credit, and attach it to your Form IT-201 or IT-203.

Green building credit

Tax Law sections 19, 606(y) and 606(i)

If your business constructs, rehabilitates, and maintains a building with high environmental standards and energy efficiency, you may be entitled to the green building credit. This will be accomplished through the use of environmentally preferable building materials and the utilization of technologies that focus on renewable and clean energy and which also provide energy efficiency. The credit will be administered by the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) which is responsible for determining both eligibility for the credit and the amount of credit. The credit is allowed for tax years beginning in 2001 through 2014.

To qualify for this credit, you must obtain an initial credit component certificate from DEC. The initial credit component certificate will state the first tax year for which the credit may be claimed, an expiration date, and the maximum amount of credit component allowable for each year. Additionally, for each year the credit is claimed, you or your business must obtain an eligibility certificate, issued by a licensed architect or engineer, certifying that the project meets the standards for green buildings.

The credit is the sum of the following credit components specified in the component certificate:

- green whole building credit component;

- green base building credit component;
- green tenant space credit component;
- fuel cell credit component;
- photovoltaic module credit component; and
- green refrigerant credit component.

The credit may be claimed for five years starting with the first tax year allowed according to the initial credit component certificate, and includes the four succeeding tax years (as set forth in the initial credit component certificate). If a credit is allowed to an owner who sells the building or to a tenant who terminates his or her lease within the five-year period of allowance of such credit, the successor owner or successor tenant would be allowed the credit for the remainder of the five-year period, provided that the property continues to meet the applicable environmental and energy efficient standards.

The green building credit is not refundable. However, any amount of credit or carryover of credit not deductible in the current year may be carried over to the following year or years.

To claim this credit, you must complete Form DTF-630, Claim for Green Building Credit, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

More information on the green building credit can be found on the Department of Environmental Conservation's Web site (www.dec.ny.gov).

Historic barn rehabilitation credit

Tax Law sections
606(a)(12) and 606(i)

If your business makes qualified rehabilitation expenditures, as defined in section 47(c)(2) of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC), you may be entitled to the historic barn rehabilitation credit. The expenditures must be paid or incurred for any barn located in New York State that is a qualified rehabilitated building, as defined in section 47(c)(1) of the IRC.

The barn must be a building originally designed and used for storing farm equipment or agricultural products, or for housing livestock. No rehabilitation credit is allowed for a barn converted to a residence or for a barn whose historic appearance has been altered. A barn that is newly constructed to replace one that had existed on a site and was destroyed is not a qualified rehabilitated building.

Qualifying rehabilitated building is a barn (and its structural components) as defined in section 47(c)(1) of the IRC, which is located in New York State, and satisfies the following criteria:

1. The barn is a certified historic structure or was first placed in service before 1936 (for exceptions, see item 4, below).
2. The barn has been substantially rehabilitated. A barn will be considered substantially rehabilitated only if the expenditures incurred during the 24-month period you selected, and ending with or within the tax year, exceed the greater of the adjusted basis of the barn or $5,000.

Under certain circumstances, the rehabilitation work may extend over a number of tax years.

3. The barn was placed in service before the beginning of the rehabilitation. A barn qualifies for the credit if it had been placed in service as a barn by any person prior to the rehabilitation, even if it is not in service at the time the rehabilitation is done.
4. For barns that are not certified historic structures and which were placed in service before 1936:
  - fifty percent or more of the existing external walls of the barn are retained in place as external walls;
  - seventy-five percent or more of the existing external walls of the barn are retained in place as internal or external walls; and
  - seventy-five percent or more of the existing internal structural framework of the barn is retained in place.
5. Depreciation (or amortization in lieu of depreciation) is allowable for the barn.

Qualified rehabilitation expenditures is defined in section 47(c)(2) of the IRC. A qualified rehabilitation expenditure must, among other things, be properly chargeable to a capital account for property which qualifies for depreciation under section 168 of the IRC.

The amount of the credit is 25% of the qualifying rehabilitation expenditures paid or incurred for any barn located in New York State that is a qualified rehabilitated building.

If the historic barn rehabilitation credit exceeds your tax, the unused amount may be carried over to the following ten years. If you qualify as the owner of a new business, you may elect to have the excess historic barn rehabilitation credit refunded.

If a rehabilitated historic barn for which this credit has been allowed is disposed of or ceases to be in qualified use prior to the end of its useful life (that is the number of months you or your business have chosen to depreciate the property for purposes of the IRC), the difference between the credit taken and the credit allowed for actual use must be added back to the tax otherwise due in the year the qualified use ceased or the year of disposition.

To claim this credit, you must complete Form IT-212-ATT, Claim for Historic Barn Rehabilitation Credit and Employment Incentive Credit, and attach it to your Form IT-212, Investment Credit, which must be filed with your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

For more information, see TSB-M-97(1)I, A Credit for Rehabilitation of Historic Barns.

Investment credit and investment tax credit for the financial services industry

Tax Law sections 606(a) and 606(i)

If your business purchases qualified property, you may be entitled to the investment credit or investment tax credit for the financial services industry. Additionally, for the investment tax credit for the financial services industry, all, or a substantial portion, of the employees performing the administrative and support functions resulting from or related to the qualifying uses of such property must be located in New York State.

There are three eligibility tests you can use to determine if your business meets the requirement to maintain the requisite number of employees performing administrative and support functions in New York State in order to claim the investment tax credit for the financial services industry: the 80% current-year test, the 95% three-year back-office test, and the 90% end-of-year test. (For more information, see the instructions for Form IT-252, Investment Tax Credit for the Financial Services Industry.)

Qualifying investment credit property is new or used tangible personal property or other tangible property (including buildings and structural components of buildings) that:

- For purposes of the investment credit is acquired, constructed, reconstructed, or erected after December 31, 1968 (Exception: Property principally used as a qualified film production facility must be placed in service on or after January 1, 2005. A building principally used as a qualified film production facility must have received its final certification of occupancy after January 1, 2005).
- For purposes of the investment tax credit for the financial services industry is acquired, constructed, reconstructed, or erected on or after October 1, 1998 and before October 1, 2011.
- Is depreciable under section 167 or section 168 of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC).

- Has a useful life of four years or more.
- Is acquired by purchase as defined in section 179(d) of the IRC.
- Is located in New York State; and:
  - for purposes of the investment credit, manufacturing and production property, retail enterprise property, waste treatment property, pollution control property, research and development property, or qualified film production facility property; or
  - for purposes of the investment tax credit for the financial services industry, is principally used in the ordinary course of your business in one of the following capacities:
    - as a broker or dealer in connection with the purchase or sale of stocks, bonds, other securities (IRC section 475(c)(2)), or of commodities (IRC section 475(e)(2)), or in providing lending, loan arrangement, or loan origination services to customers in connection with the purchase or sale of securities (IRC section 475(c)(2)); or
    - of providing investment advisory services for a regulated investment company (IRC section 851).

The investment credit base is the cost or other basis of the qualified property for federal income tax purposes.

The credits are a percentage of the investment credit base. The percentage is based on the date the qualified property was acquired and can be up to 4% (7% for research and development property) of the investment credit base.

Both credits are allowed only for the tax year in which the qualifying property is placed in service. However, if either credit exceeds your tax, the unused amount may be carried over to the following ten years. If you qualify as the owner of a new business, you may elect to have the excess investment credit refunded.

If property on which the investment credit or investment tax credit for the financial services industry was taken is disposed of or removed from qualified use before its useful life or specified holding period ends, the difference between the credit taken and the credit allowed for actual use must be added to your income tax in the year of disposition. You must also add to your income tax an additional amount computed by multiplying the addback of credit on early dispositions by the underpayment interest rate in effect on the last day of your tax year. The underpayment interest rate is not compounded. However, if the property was in qualified use for more than 12 consecutive years, the add backs for credit and interest on early dispositions are not required.

To claim the investment credit, you must complete Form IT-212, Investment Credit, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

To claim the investment tax credit for the financial services industry, you must complete Form IT-252, Investment Tax Credit for the Financial Services Industry, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

For more information, see TSB-M-98(6)I, Tax Credits for the Financial Services Industry, and TSB-M-02(7)I, Investment Tax Credit (ITC) Relief for Property Destroyed as a Direct Result of the Terrorist Attacks of September 11, 2001.

Employment incentive credit and employment incentive credit for the financial services industry

Tax Law sections 606(a-1) and 606(i)

If your business places property in service on or after January 1, 1997, and that property qualifies for the investment credit (other than at the optional rate applicable to research and development property) or the business placed property in service on or after October 1, 1998 and before October 1, 2011, and that property qualifies for the investment tax credit for the financial services industry, you may be entitled to the employment incentive credit or the employment incentive credit for the financial services industry. If you qualify, the credits are allowed for each of the two years immediately following the tax year in which the investment tax credit was allowed.

The amount of the credit is a percentage of the original investment credit base on which the investment credit or investment tax credit for the financial services industry was allowed. The percentage used to compute the credit is based upon the level of employment in each of the two years during which the credit may be claimed compared to the level of employment in the base year. However, the credit will not be allowed for a year your average number of employees in New York State during that year is not at least 101% of your average number of employees in New York State during the base year.

Generally, the base year is the tax year immediately preceding the tax year in which the original investment credit was claimed. However, if the business was not in operation in New York State during that year, the base year is the tax year in which the original investment credit was claimed.

If the employment incentive credit or the employment incentive credit for the financial services industry exceeds your tax, the unused amounts may be carried over to the following ten years. If you qualify as the owner of a new business, you may elect to have the excess refunded.

To claim the employment incentive credit, you must complete Form IT-212-ATT, Claim for Historic Barn Rehabilitation Credit and Employment Incentive Credit, and attach it to your Form IT-212, Investment Credit, which must be filed with your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

To claim the employment incentive credit for the financial services industry, you must complete Form IT-252-ATT, Employment Incentive Credit for the Financial Services Industry, and attach it to your Form IT-252, Investment Tax Credit for the Financial Services Industry, which must be filed with your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

Long-term care insurance credit

Tax Law sections 606(aa) and 606(i)

If your business pays premiums for qualified long-term care insurance, you may be entitled to the long-term care insurance credit.

A qualified long-term care insurance policy is one that is:

- approved by the New York State Superintendent of Insurance under section 1117(g) of the Insurance Law; and
- a qualified long-term care insurance contract under section 7702B of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC). (Note: Section 7702B relates to policies for which a federal itemized deduction is allowed); or
- a group contract delivered or issued for delivery outside New York State; and
- the group contract is a qualified long-term care insurance contract under section 7702B of the IRC. The premiums paid for this insurance qualify for the credit even if the policy is not approved by the New York State Superintendent of Insurance.

A qualified long-term care insurance contract under section 7702B of the IRC is an insurance contract that provides only coverage of qualified long-term care services. The contract must:

- be guaranteed renewable;
- not provide for cash surrender value or other money that can be paid, assigned, pledged, or borrowed;
- provide that refunds, other than refunds on the death of the insured or complete surrender or cancellation of the contract, and dividends under the contract must be used only to reduce future premiums or increase future benefits; and
- generally not pay or reimburse expenses incurred for services or items that would be reimbursed under Medicare, except where Medicare is a secondary payer, or the contract makes per diem or other periodic payments without regard to expenses.

The insurance company that issued your policy should be able to tell you if the policy qualifies under section 7702B of the IRC.

The credit is equal to 20% of the premiums paid during the tax year for the purchase of or for continuing coverage under a qualifying long-term care insurance policy.

The credit is limited for part-year and nonresident individuals, estates, and trusts to the amount determined by multiplying the total credit amount by your income percentage.

The long-term care insurance credit is not refundable. However, any amount of credit or carryover of credit not deductible in the current tax year may be carried over to be deducted for the following year or years.

To claim this credit, you must complete Form IT-249, Claim for Long-Term Care Insurance Credit, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

Low-income housing credit

Tax Law sections 18, 606(x), and 606(i)

The New York State low-income housing tax credit program was established to promote the construction and rehabilitation of low-income housing in New York State. The credit program coordinates with and builds upon the federal low-income housing credit, which is provided for in section 42 of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC). The state credit, like the federal credit, is administered by the New York State Division of Housing and Community Renewal (DHCR).

The amount of the credit for each building is determined by the Commissioner of the Division of Housing and Community Renewal under Article 2-A of the Public Housing Law. The credit amount allocated to a project by the commissioner is allowed each year for 10 years. However, the project must continue to qualify as low-income housing for a 15-year compliance period to avoid a partial recapture of the credit.

If, as of the close of any tax year in the compliance period, there is a reduction in the qualified basis of the building from the previous year, you may have to recapture a part of the credit you have taken. Similarly, you may have to recapture part of the credits taken in previous years upon certain dispositions of the building or interests therein (see Form DTF-626, Recapture of Low-Income Housing Credit).

If a building is disposed of and there is any reduction in the qualified basis of the building that results in an increase in tax for the current or subsequent tax years, the period to issue a deficiency assessment relating to a credit recapture is extended three years from the date the Commissioner of the

New York State Division of Housing and Community Renewal is notified by the taxpayer that the building is no longer in compliance.

The low-income housing credit is not refundable. However, any amount of credit or carryover of credit not deductible in the current year may be carried over for the following year or years.

To qualify for this credit the building owner must obtain a New York State low-income housing credit allocation from DHCR on Form DTF-625, Low-Income Housing Credit Allocation and Certification. The building owner also completes Form DTF-625-ATT, Low-Income Housing Credit Annual Statement. To claim the credit you must file Form DTF-624, Claim for Low-Income Housing Credit, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

For more information, see the instructions for Forms DTF-625, DTF-625-ATT, DTF-624, and DTF-626. Additional information on this credit is also available on the New York State Division of Housing and Community Renewal Web site (www.nysdhcr.gov).

Qualified emerging technology
company (QETC)
tax credits

The qualified emerging technology company (QETC) tax credits have been created to enhance emerging technology industries in New York State. Three tax credits are available for personal income tax taxpayers: the QETC employment credit, the QETC capital tax credit, and the QETC facilities, operations, and training credit.

A qualified emerging technology company is, as defined by section 3102-e of the Public Authorities Law (PAL), a company located in New York State that has a total annual product sales of $10 million or less, and meets either of the following criteria:

- its primary products or services are classified as emerging technologies under section 3102-e(1)(b) of the PAL; or
- it has research and development activities in New York State and its ratio of research and development funds to net sales equals or exceeds the average ratio for all surveyed companies classified (as determined by the National Science Foundation in the most recently published results from its survey of industrial research and development or a comparable successor survey as determined by the Tax Department).

For the definition of emerging technologies, see the instructions for Form DTF-621, Claim for QETC Employment Credit, Form DTF-622, Claim for QETC Capital Tax Credit, or Form DTF-619, Claim for QETC Facilities, Operations, and Training Credit.

For more information, see TSB-M-00(2)I, Qualified Emerging Technology Company Tax Credits (Personal Income Tax).

QETC employment credit

Tax Law sections 606(q) and 606(i)

If your business creates jobs in qualified emerging technology companies in New York State, you may be entitled to the QETC employment credit.

To qualify for the credit the average number of individuals employed full-time by the QETC in New York State, during the tax year, must be at least 101% of the QETC's base-year employment.

Base-year employment means the average number of individuals employed full-time by the company in New York State during the three tax years immediately preceding the first year in which the credit is claimed.

The amount of the credit is equal to the average number of full-time employees in New York State for the current tax year, minus the base-year employment, multiplied by $1,000.

The credit is available for three consecutive tax years selected by your business and may be claimed for each of the three years that the eligibility requirements are met.

If the amount of any QETC employment credit is in excess of your New York State tax liability, the excess will be treated as an overpayment of tax to be credited or refunded (without interest).

To claim this credit, you must complete Form DTF-621, Claim for QETC Employment Credit, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

QETC capital tax credit

Tax Law sections 606(r) and 606(i)

If your business invests in qualified emerging technology companies in New York State, you may be entitled to the QETC capital tax credit.

The credit is computed on each qualified investment made during the tax year in a certified QETC.

A qualified investment means:

- the contribution of property to a corporation in exchange for original issue capital stock or other ownership interest; and
- the contribution of property to a partnership in exchange for an interest in the partnership; and
- similar contributions to a business entity not in corporate or partnership form in exchange for an ownership interest in the entity.

Qualified investments do not include investments made by or on behalf of an owner of the QETC, including, but not limited to, a sole proprietor, stockholder, partner, or any related person (as defined in section 465(b)(3)(C) of the Internal Revenue Code).

A certified qualified emerging technology company means a QETC that filed Form DTF-620, Application for Certification of a Qualified Emerging Technology Company, and has been certified as a QETC by the Commissioner of Taxation and Finance.

The QETC capital tax credit is computed on each qualified investment made during the tax year in a certified QETC and is equal to the sum of:

- ten percent of qualified investments in certified QETCs, if you certify to the Commissioner of Taxation and Finance at the time the credit is claimed that the qualified investment will not be sold, transferred, traded, or disposed of within four years from the close of the tax year in which the QETC capital tax credit is first claimed; and
- twenty percent of qualified investments in certified QETCs if your business certifies to the Commissioner of Taxation and Finance at the time the credit is claimed that the qualified investment will not be sold, transferred, traded, or disposed of within nine years from the close of the tax year in which the QETC capital tax credit is first claimed.

The QETC capital tax credit is not refundable. However, any amount of credit or carryover of credit not deductible in the current tax year may be carried over to be deducted for the following year or years.

You may have to recapture a portion of the credit originally allowed if:

- you sell, transfer, or otherwise dispose of corporate stock, a partnership interest, or other ownership interest arising from the making of a qualified investment, or
- you recover an investment that was the basis for the allowance of the QETC capital tax credit.

Recapture is required if the disposal or recovery occurs during the tax year or within 48 months (for a credit at the rate of 10% of qualified investments) or 108 months (for a credit at the rate 20% of qualified investments) from the close of the tax year when the credit was allowed.

To claim this credit, you must complete Form DTF-622, Claim for QETC Capital Tax Credit, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

QETC facilities, operations, and training creditTax Law sections 606(nn)
and 606(i)

If your business incurs costs for certain facilities, operations, and employee training, you may be entitled to the QETC facilities, operations, and training credit.

Qualified research expenses means expenses associated with in-house research and processes, and costs associated with the dissemination of the results of the products that directly result from such research and development activities. Such costs do not include expenses for advertising or promotion through media, litigation or the challenge of another entity's intellectual property rights, or for contract expenses involving outside paid consultants.

Qualified high-technology training includes a course or courses taken and satisfactorily completed by an employee of the business at an accredited, degree-granting, post-secondary college or university in New York State that directly relate to emerging technologies and are intended to upgrade, retrain, or improve the productivity or theoretical awareness of the employee. Such course or courses may include, but are not limited to, instruction or research relating to techniques, meta, macro, or microtheoretical or practical knowledge bases or frontiers, or ethical concerns related to such activities. Such course or courses do not include classes in the disciplines of management, accounting, or the law, or any class designed to fulfill the associate, baccalaureate, graduate, or professional level of these disciplines.

Research and development (R & D) property for purposes of the research and development credit component is property that is:

- acquired by purchase as defined in section 179(d) of the IRC,
- placed in service during the tax year, and
- used in research and development in the experimental or laboratory sense.

To qualify for the credit the QETC must:

- have 100 full-time employees or less, with at least 75% of those employees employed in New York State;
- have a ratio of research and development funds to net sales which equals or exceeds six percent (6%) during its tax year; and
- have gross revenues, along with the gross revenues of its affiliates and related members, that did not exceed twenty million dollars for the immediately preceding tax year.

The amount of the credit is the sum of the following amounts:

- 18% of research and development property and costs and fees incurred in connection with emerging technology activities;
- 9% of qualified research expenses paid or incurred by your business during the tax year; and
- 100% of qualified high-technology training expenses paid or incurred by your business, limited to $4,000 per employee per year.

The total amount of credit allowable to your business cannot be more than $250,000 per year. If you are a partner in a partnership or a shareholder of a New York S corporation, the limitation is applied at the partnership or S corporation level.

The credit may be claimed for four consecutive tax years; however, a business that relocates from an academic incubator facility may claim the credit for five consecutive tax years and may elect to defer the credit to the first tax year after the business relocates from the incubator facility.

If the amount of any QETC facilities, operations, and training credit is in excess of your New York State tax liability, the excess will be treated as an overpayment of tax to be credited or refunded (without interest).

To claim this credit, you must complete Form DTF-619, Claim for QETC Facilities, Operations, and Training Credit, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

Rehabilitation of historic properties credit

Tax Law sections 606(oo) and 606(i)

If your business has expenses related to the rehabilitation of a depreciable certified historic structure located in New York State, you may be entitled to the rehabilitation of historic properties credit. The New York State credit is based on the federal credit allowed for the qualified rehabilitation expenditures, as defined by section 47(c)(2) of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC), related to the rehabilitation of the same certified historic structure.

A certified historic structure, for purposes of this credit, is defined under section 47(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC). Under that section, a certified historic structure is a building (and its structural components) that is listed in the National Register of Historic Places or is located in a registered historic district and certified to be of historic significance to the district.

Qualified rehabilitation expenditures means any amount properly charged to a capital account:

- for property for which depreciation is allowable under section 168 of the IRC and which is (1) nonresidential real property, (2) residential rental property, (3) real property which has a class life of more than 12.5 years, or (4) an addition or improvement to property described in (1), (2), or (3); and

- in connection with the rehabilitation of a qualified rehabilitated building.

The rehabilitation project must also be in whole or in part:

- a targeted area residence within the meaning of section 143(j) of the IRC that is a residence in an area that is either a qualified census tract or an area of chronic economic distress, or
- located within a census tract that is identified as being at or below 100% of the state median family income in the most recent federal census.

The credit must be claimed by the same taxpayer(s) that claimed the federal credit. Accordingly, the allocation of the New York State credit among partners in a partnership, members of a limited liability company, or shareholders of a New York S corporation must follow the same allocation allowed for purposes of the federal tax credit under IRC section 47.

Generally, you must claim the New York State credit for the same year you were allowed the federal credit for the rehabilitation of historic properties. If you elect under IRC section 47(d) to claim the credit for federal purposes based on when the rehabilitation expenses are paid instead of when the historic structure is placed in service, you may only claim the New York State credit for the year in which the historic structure is placed in service. However, the New York State credit is equal to 100% of the total federal credit, including any amount of federal credit for the same structure that you claimed in prior years, but may not exceed $5,000,000 per structure for the year the property is placed in service. There is no limit on the number of structures for which the credit may be taken.

The rehabilitation of historic properties credit is not refundable. However, any amount of credit or carryover of credit not deductible in the current year may be carried over for the following year or years.

If the federal credit allowed for a structure in New York State is subject to federal recapture under section 50(a) of the IRC, you must recapture all or a portion of the New York State credit allowed for that structure.

To claim this credit, you must complete Form IT-238, Claim for Rehabilitation of Historic Properties Credit, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

Security officer training tax credit

Tax Law sections 26, 606(ii), and 606(i)

Qualified building owners employing qualified security officers may be entitled to the security officer training tax credit. The credit is administered by the New York State Office of Homeland Security (NYSOHS) which is responsible for determining the eligibility for the credit and the amount of the credit.

To qualify for this credit, the building owner must file an application with NYSOHS and receive a certificate of tax credit. The certificate will state the amount of the security officer tax credit that the building owner has qualified for.

The credit amount equals $3,000 multiplied by the sum of the number of qualified security officers providing protection for a building or buildings owned by a qualified building owner. In the case of a qualified security officer not employed for a full year, the amount of the credit is prorated to reflect the length of employment.

If the amount of any security officer training credit is in excess of your New York State tax liability, the excess will be treated as an overpayment of tax to be credited or refunded (without interest).

To claim this credit you must complete Form IT-631, Claim for Security Officer Training Tax Credit, and attach it to your Form IT-201, IT-203, IT-204, or IT-205.

For more information, visit the New York State Office of Homeland Security Web site (www.security.state.ny.us).

Tax Law section 606(f)(3)

If your business paid the special additional mortgage recording tax to record a mortgage on real property located in New York State you may be entitled to the special additional mortgage recording tax credit for the amount of the special additional mortgage recording tax paid.

No credit is allowed for the special additional mortgage recording tax paid on residential mortgages if the real property is located in Erie county or any of the counties within the Metropolitan Commuter Transportation District (MCTD). The MCTD includes New York City (the counties of New York (Manhattan), Bronx, Kings (Brooklyn), Queens, Richmond (Staten Island)), and the counties of Rockland, Nassau, Suffolk, Orange, Putnam, Dutchess, and Westchester.

A residential mortgage, for purposes of this credit, means a mortgage of real property principally improved by one or more structures containing a total of not more than six residential dwelling units, each with its own separate cooking facilities.

If the amount of the special additional mortgage recording tax credit exceeds your tax for the tax year, any amount of credit exceeding the tax
